

DCTC Policy 3.42 Clinical

Part 1. Policy Statement.

The clinical health program courses offered by the college shall be structured, closely supervised, educational experiences similar to other college courses. The courses shall state what is being taught, the conditions for instruction, and the process for evaluation. Clinical courses offered in hospitals and clinics provide direct practical experiences for the students applying theory that is taught in the classroom to the clinical setting and are closely supervised by appropriately licensed health personnel and/or major program instructors from the college.
